DR. UPHAM'S

Vegetable Uternal Remedy

FOR THE PILES!

☞ A Cure for Life Secured. ☜

In the case of Piles, Inflammation of the Uterus and Internal Organs, Sorrness and Ulceration of the Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys and Bladder, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Mucous Membrane, Impurity of Bloody Menstruation and Gleet in Females, and for the relief of Married Ladies.

THIS VALUABLE PILE REMEDY, discovered by Dr. A. Upham, a distinguished Physician of New York city, is the only really successful remedy for these dreadful and distressing complaints—the Piles, ever offered to the American public.

Each box contains INTERNAL REMEDY—not an external application, and will cure any case of Piles, either bleeding or blind, internal or external, and positively the only thing that will. There is no exception to this assertion. In the most aggravated cases of Piles, no matter of how long standing—in which every other remedy has failed—in which the patient has suffered for years, and has become reduced to a mere skeleton—in which the most eminent physicians have given them up as incurable—in which the sufferer has become discouraged, and has given up all hope of ever being cured—in all these cases, and in every case of Piles, no matter what the cause or how long standing—in every case, without exception, where there is a tendency to Piles, this Remedy will cure.

Each box contains full directions for use, and in every case of the most obstinate character, a perfect cure is guaranteed.

Each box contains twelve doses, and full directions, in such a manner as to render the operation as simple as possible. It is entirely vegetable, and perfectly safe in its operation, as many as 10 boxes have been used in a single case, without injury. All evil consequences, even in the slightest degree, from its use, are entirely prevented by the combination of the ingredients, which are of the most healing and soothing character, and while they remove the cause of the disease, they restore the system to a healthy state, and prevent any return of the disease, thereby making a permanent cure.

This Medicine operates the same in every case, and REMOVES THE CAUSE, leaving the SYSTEM PERFECTLY WELL AND PERMANENT.

INFLAMMATORY DISEASES.

Although the ELECTUARY was originally designed for the cure of Piles, yet it has proved itself a sovereign remedy for all others, in all diseases of an inflammatory character, with a direct controlling influence over particular parts or organs. In inflammation of the Kidneys, Bladder, Womb, Liver and Spleen, Inflammation of the Bowels, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Inflammation of the Womb, Whites, Inflammation of the Stomach, Hiccups, Heartburn, Inflammation of the Bladder, in Inflammatory and Intermittent Fevers, and in all the Many Maladies and disorders peculiar to Females.

We have to-day received, the regular mail from the West. In the absence of anything new, we endeavor to keep a full history of events in Mexico, at present the most absorbing subject of interest to the great mass of our readers.

The following letter from M. Kendall editor of the N. O. Picayune, is the best account of the battles of Churubusco and Contreras, on the 19th and 20th of August, which we have seen.

BATTLES OF CONTRERAS AND CHURUBUSCO.

Full Particulars.

Editorial Correspondence of the Picayune.

TACUBAYA (near Mexico,)
August 22 1847.

At 7 o'clock on the morning of the 18th, Gen Scott arrived at San Augustin, and at 10 o'clock Gen Worth was in full march for the city of Mexico, by the main road. Major Smith and Turnbull, Capt Mason and other engineer officers were sent in advance, supported by Capt Blake's squadron of dragoons, to reconnoitre as it was known that the enemy was in force at or near San Antonio. The party when within a thousand yards, was fired upon from a battery which was masked by rops, and the first ball from a twelve pounder severely killed Captain Thornton of the 2d Dragoons besides severely wounding a guide, named Jonathan Evans, a teamster.

Gen Garland's brigade was then ordered to occupy the hacienda of Carrera, with a place right and rangle of the enemy's batteries at San Antonio while Col Clarke's brigade and the battery under Lieut Duncan, took a station on the near close by. The engineer officers were at once sent out to reconnoitre by Gen Worth to ascertain the exact policy of turning the strong works of the enemy, and in the meantime Gen Scott had despatched Capt Lee with a supporting party, composed of Capt Kearney's squadron, and a body of the 11th infantry and Capt Graham, to ascertain the practicability of finding a road by which the village of San Angel could be reached, and thus turn the strong hold at San Antonio. This latter party had a sharp encounter with the advance of the enemy the main body being found posted at a strong point not far from the factory of Contreras.

By the skirmish some six or eight Mexicans were killed and as many more taken prisoners on our side not a man was touched. The result of the reconnoissance proved favorable. It was ascertained that a road could be made which would enable the army to reach San Angel, and thus turn the strong battery at San Antonio and perhaps others the enemy might have upon the road between that and the city of Mexico. The Mexicans were plainly seen in force at the commanding point near Contreras, and it was evident that they had a number of cannon in position, but at a council held at night it was determined upon to attack them the following day.

In the meantime, while this reconnoissance was in progress, Gen Worth had established his head quarters at the hacienda of Carrera which from the windows mounted upon the roof of the enemy could be seen at work upon the batteries of San Antonio. About noon they opened fire on the hacienda with both round shot and shell nearly every one of which took effect, without doing other injury than to the building. Late in the evening the batteries again opened but with no better result than showing the position of the different guns.

For a time, the batteries were silent during the night. And the fire both on the evening night have been returned as the command expected.

Before going further it may be well to say that the city of Mexico lies about due north from nearly north of San Augustin but San Antonio is about two miles to the westward of the direct road to the point occupied by Gen Worth at that place. The road, for he is to the left, and at this point is at least three miles in a straight line from the city. The road is nearly parallel with the causeway of Iztapalapa, which runs from the city to the south, and is many of our readers have probably seen. It is a long, straight causeway, not very high, but not very much higher than the surrounding ground. It is not a more rough, or uneven ground than the surface.

At 8 o'clock on the morning of the 19th the batteries opened on Gen Worth's position at the hacienda near San Antonio, the balls crashing through the walls and filling the rooms with fragments of rock. But few fatal shots. Shells also burst in the air over the building, and the principal sufferings of the day were among the rear.

So hot was the fire that the troops were obliged to gain shelter behind the building, but still did not give up the position. At 9 o'clock the divisions of Gens Pillow and Twiggs were ordered to advance in the direction of Contreras and by one in the afternoon were in plain sight at the rear, within musket and within range of the heavy guns.

The brigade of Gen B. S. Smith was ordered to advance directly towards the enemy's works, while that of Cadwallader moved to wards a small village to the right with orders to gain the main road and thus be enabled to cut off any reinforcements which might be sent to Valencia from the city.

An incessant firing of cannon was opened upon the advance of Gen Smith and soon the infantry were engaged in a skirmishing with the pickets of the enemy and driving them in.

The 12-pounder battery of Capt Magruder was placed forward with all speed as was also the rocket and mountain howitzer battery now commanded by Lieut Callender of the ordnance department. As soon as they could gain a position they opened upon the enemy, but were so much exposed to a fire of heavy guns that they were soon silenced.

Lieut Johnson, of the 1st artillery, but attached to Magruder's battery was mortally wounded, while Lieut Callender was severely wounded in both legs.

At 3 o'clock the brigade of Gen Cadwallader was ordered out to support Col Riley, heavy reinforcements being seen on their way out from the city, while Gen Garland's brigade was sent to sustain Gen Smith. The firing from the enemy continued incessantly, while from a hill just outside of the range of their guns the spectacle was most grand and imposing.

About 4 o'clock Gen Smith arrived, and seeing the immense force that the Mexicans, at once ordered Gen Shields brigade from San Augustin (a part of Gen Quitman's command—to the right to support Riley and Cadwallader and prevent, if possible, a junction of the force coming out from the city, with those of Valencia.

The order of battle of Valencia was certainly most imposing—infantry were seen drawn up to support the batteries, while long lines of the enemy's cavalry were stationed in the rear, as if awaiting the shock of battle. Two separate charges of the latter were distinctly seen repulsed by Col Riley, who had moved his brigade at once into a position partially in the rear of the enemy's works.

Until night had fairly closed in, the fire from the enemy's batteries did not slacken—it had been a continuous one for nearly six hours.—Gen Scott returned to San Augustin about 5 o'clock, and the main of the hard work which had just commenced in earnest. Gens Twiggs and Pillow though about 7 o'clock, we said, completely surrounded. It was impossible to use horses on the rough and exceedingly broken ground on which they had been operating for nearly 24 hours.

Notwithstanding the immense strength of the works of the enemy, of the most formidable difficulty of reaching them, it had been at first thought that the batteries might be taken at a dash, and that the troops would be all in position by quarter past 3 in San Angel for the night instead of, that a large portion of them were compelled to bivouac without blankets or food, it could not be a stitch in the night. And in addition, the rain poured in torrents, and the darkness was enough to depress the spirits of the most resolute. Add to this, the gun-locks of the enemy were so wet as to render their guns useless, want of food, and the fact that the men were weakened by long marches, want of food, and exhausted by the continuous fighting in, and it is not saying too much to assert that the troops on the 19th of August were gloomy in the extreme.

Early on the morning of the 20th, General Worth was ordered to move with a part of his division—Garland's brigade—towards the scene of action at Contreras, to aid in the attack upon Valencia, for it force his position was deemed unchangeable. A few discharges of cannon were heard about seven o'clock, and a heavy thrilling for musketry, and soon even and then in the distance, their heavy rage caused by Mexicans in full flight towards the city, but few discharged could be heard. Contreras had been captured and carried. The position was Gen Scott himself, who marched by Gen Worth station ed for the day, with which the enemy had retired in the direction of the city. The ground in the vicinity of Contreras is exceedingly covered with rocks, and the difficulty of the passage of the artillery and troops, may be readily imagined.

It was upon this spot that Gen Worth was stationed for the day, and about three o'clock the battle of Churubusco commenced. Twiggs and Pillow had been stationed with Contreras.

The battle of Churubusco was fought with the greatest bravery on both sides. Gen Scott himself was present, and was under the fire of the enemy's guns during the whole day. Gen Worth's division was engaged in the centre, and Gen Twiggs on the left. The battle

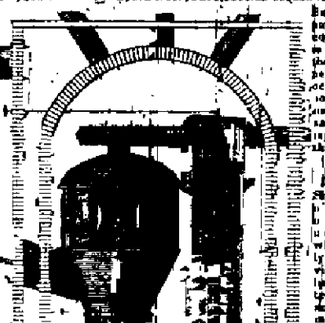
CULVER'S PATENT HOT AIR FURNACE.

THE HOT-AIR FURNACE is an article the object and purpose of which is, to heat dwelling-houses and other buildings with a pure, comfortable, healthful warm air, produced from the fire of the heat so distributed, and conducted from the fire-ure to the several rooms or portions of buildings to be warmed, through tin conductors, in such manner that two, three, or all can be heated when required, by means and of valves or registers for such purposes inserted in the doors of or large of the rooms. This method is new, and but few companies only have become acquainted with its utility.



The Furnace is placed in the cellar or Basement of the building to be warmed, and when convenient, directly under the principal rooms to be heated, and as near a good chimney-flue as practicable by this mode of warming dwelling houses, the dust, filth and rubbish resulting from the use of fire-places, grates or stoves, are all removed to the cellar room, out of the way, and nothing admitted to the rooms but the healthful and pure warm air.

The method of warming houses, hospitals, and other buildings presents a revolution, which is a most valuable consideration — for people in health nothing more agreeable, for the sick, nothing more necessary in winter the warm air is evenly and gently wafted through the rooms, diffusing comfort every where, and so [illegible]

Summer Use same apparatus may be used for cooling the same, by allowing the cooling air through the same channels, and refreshing the occupants with the pleasures of taking cold—incident to open doors and open windows during the warm season of the year.

Albert Noyes

Sole Agent for this part of the State for the sale of Culver's Patent Tubular Hot-Air Furnaces, which have been recently improved by Mr. Thos. Culver, and which have been thoroughly tested and proved to be an article of superior merits. It is believed to possess claims over all others known in the United States

For its great economy, convenience and strength, compactness, and beautiful form

2. Its great durability—being in all its parts of cast-iron set within walls of brick masonry. The pot or burner being wholly, is kept by superiorness to be more durable than those made of riage or sad metals, and less liable to emit gas into the hot air chamber

3. The great radiating surfaces of the Furnace, exceed the [illegible] of any others, and are so constructed that the heat acts actively upon those surfaces within, and powerful heating of the cold air that is admitted to the outer surface from the atmosphere as it passes the building through the tubes for that purpose.

4. The great economy in the use of fuel manifested since erection, more than by any other pro[illegible] of using it—the radiating surfaces having an efficient and capacity by means of an additional flat radiator and improving pas[illegible] through which the whole current of Heat can be turned at pleasure, exhausting the whole into the surrounding air before it leaves the Furnace, and in such a manner as to be controlled at will.

5 The last (or last) asset of this Furnace is—it can be cleansed of soot and ashes easily, without the necessity of taking down or breaking it, as it is simple—easily understood and managed as a cylinder stove, and operated or repaired and kept in order

ADAMS HOUSE,

No. 371 Washington Street,

BOSTON.

L. & W. T. ADAMS beg leave to inform their friends and the public, that they have added the above new and splendid Hotel.

THE ADAMS HOUSE was erected during the past season to supply an obvious demand for increased and superior accommodations in this City. It is located on Washington street, within five minutes walk of the great Southern and Western Railroad Depots, and the business sections of the City. It is adjacent to the Park, and the Cupola commands a beautiful view of the Harbor and the adjoining coasts.

The house has been constructed after the most approved plans, with all the modern inventions that minister to the comfort and convenience of the Traveler, and the Constructor's long experience in Hotels has enabled him to introduce many improvements, which are not yet possessed by this Establishment. It is built of Quincy Granite, and contains one hundred and fifty Rooms, conveniently arranged in suits and single apartments, well ventilated, and supplied with an abundance of pure soft water.

The Furniture was made to order from the best patterns, with special regard as well to comfort and convenience as luxury and splendor.

Our Table will be supplied with all the luxuries of the season and we pledge ourselves that the first rate for the season shall be found upon it.

We have devoted unusual attention to the selection of Servants, and our Guests may rely upon prompt and polite attendance.

Porters will be in readiness at the various Depots to take charge of baggage, and provide Carriages for our Guests.

The Proprietors trust by strict attention to the wants of Guests to merit a share of patronage, and will do what may favor them with a visit that nothing shall be wanting on their part to render the Adams House second to none in the Union.

GRAEFENBERG PILLS,

PURELY and entirely vegetable remedy for the cure of Medicine to the present. "PATENT," would be under the name of a miserable and endurance blessings to the human family. Supported, for example, upon a high order of the best long and extensive observation, and great medical learning and experience are brought to bear upon the formation and manufacture of PILLS. Why may it not then long continue to the discovery of medicines, hence be rewarded with the success that attends the exertions of a similar talents and noble achievement? There is no reason, and it is but the simplest dictates of the simplest common sense to say that a Pill thus produced will be perfect as regards as can be made by man. Twenty-five years devoted to this one subject will give a man of ability the mastery over it. This time has been bestowed upon the

and they are presented to the public with the most unqualified confidence in their virtues.
It will be seen, by turning to the history of all great inventions, that they were not realized or discovered until the period of what may be termed the FULNESS OF TIME. In inventive contrivance, for instance, were not invented until in the "fullness of time" it was required, the telegraph was not born to exist, but the never knew what a wonderful and unerring guide was lying unnoticed in the mariner's compass, and the Printing Press, upon which the Great Declaration of American Independence was printed, was not invented until the art of printing, of which it is the result, had been perfected. Many other instances could be given, but the above will suffice.
So with the discovery of the New World, it was when there was in existence an instrument by which it could be found. The Pilot's compass was the instrument by which Columbus, from his forecastle of his dreary deck, was enabled to find his way to the mansions of printing, of steam, of the electric telegraph. Each of these and its own "fullness of time" to unfold, first and last and Printed.
It is supposed, as regards THE GRAEFENBERG PILLS, that the same has already happened. Most learned and scientific gentlemen of this country and in other parts of the world, We can turn here from the Mosaic dispensation to the present hour, all of them have acknowledged the finger and pointed to the hand of the Almighty, as the only source of all knowledge, on any subject, and I now do the same, and with pleasure, and with pride in saying that I had no assumption as regards any effect on all he arrived at. But completing has been that of the Liver, from which Graefenberg of getting better, for since taking the Pills I find my general health, spirits and appetite so much improved that I hope to send myself able to supply, without hardly suffering, the demand of an ordinary Patient now. In forms I will send on your request few more Pills when needed. With great consideration and gratitude, I am, &c.
From every section of the entire country similar testimonials equally as strong, but our limits forbid further remarks. Quick cures, and Graefenberg Pills will establish for themselves

This Cream is acknowledged by all who have used it to be superior to any in use. It possesses fine and rich lathering properties, purifies the skin, softens the corrugations, and renders the most unmanageable beard pliable to the razor, leaving the face soft and smooth as a lady's cheek, and imparting a healthy tone to the system, and a delightful sensation to the person. Nothing can equal the beauty of the hair as imparted to it by the use of the Eau Lustral Hair Restorative. It invigorates the hair and promotes its growth. The Shaving Cream, is unsurpassed and decidedly excellent, being free and highly emollient compositions; it does not smart or irritate the skin, while the Nymph Soap operates beautifully on the pores of the skin, and cleanses it from all impurities. The Rose Tooth Paste imparts to the teeth a pearly whiteness, and is said to be beneficial to preserve the teeth and gums from decay. They are in their way invaluable.
"I have used many of my friends who have used your Vegetable Liquid Hair Dye in others in reality a wonder. Dr. Townsend's SARSAPARILLA.

The Most Extraordinary Medicine in the World.

This extract is put up 8 quart bottles in small compass, pleasanter, and obviates paper, and is sold. It cures diseases without loathing, sickening or debilitating the patient.
The great beauty and superiority of this Extract over all other preparations of the kind is, that it invigorates the body. In the month of March and September, when the system is purified, and that it creates new, pure and healthful blood, it purifies the whole system, and strengthens it beyond what is considered possible. Those who have used it in the grand sanitary spring and autumn months, know its wonderful powers. Those who have not, will be surprised at the result. Many who have been considered incurable. More than 300 0 cases of Chronic Rheumatism,
800 cases of Dyspepsia,
400 0 cases of General Debility and Want of Energy,
700 0 cases of the different Female Complaints,
900 0 cases of Scrofula,
1800 cases of the Liver Complaint,
8500 cases of Diseases of the Kidneys and Bowels,
800 cases of Consumption, and thousands of cases of diseases of the blood, as—Ulcers, erysipelas, pimples, pustules on the face, &c., together with numerous cases of sick headache, pain in the side and chest, spasms, hysterics, &c. &c.
This, we are aware, must appear incredible to those who have letters from physicians and our agents from all parts of the United States, informing us of extraordinary cures. Mr. Van Buskirk, Esq., one of the most respectable druggists in Newark, N.J., informs us that he can refer to more than 150 cases in that place alone, of these are thousands of cases in the City of New York which we will refer to with pleasure, and to several of whom we will refer to with pleasure, and to several of whom we will refer to with pleasure, and to several of whom
